

STREETS CLEAN

Bookwalter Will Have Distance Enforced.

He Says, Are the Most Stent Violators—Saturday
Half Holiday.

Bookwalter has come to the conclusion that Indianapolis merchants are not cleaning the streets as they should be.
He has noticed that merchants do not have many scraps of waste paper, old newspapers or other refuse in their alleys or on the windy days, such as seen lately, these pieces of paper are everywhere, and litter up the disgraceful fashion. He says regard of the city ordinance enforceable on Pennsylvania, Washington streets and in Monument square.

Today, the mayor said, a member of the Merchants' Association came to him and made a clean record of all the merchants who have cleaned their streets. The mayor informed the members of the Merchants' Association that he was keeping the city clean.
He suggested that the matter for the police of the association.
The Board of Safety took the matter to a meeting with the mayor.
He issued orders to the police to clean the streets. He said that he could be proved that he had the clean-street ordinance enforceable on Pennsylvania, Wash-
square.

STORY REHASHED.

Officials Pay No Attention to Phaht Trust Sensation.

Bookwalter, when asked yesterday basis of fact there is for a statement has been made that if the Public Works would allow other asphalt than the kind procured Island of Trinidad to be used in improvements the city would secure equally as good with less cost, re-too much to do to pay attention to such stories rehashed. The plain fact is that Trinidad asphalt is so much more serviceable than any other kind of asphalt that it is proportionately more expensive. The city is foolish to use any other kind. The 'kick' of Trinidad asphalt is that it is durable. Whenever a little complaint is made, the city is quick to get a contract for the material.

The best material for the city is asphalt. It is just as good, cannot further be improved, and it is done in the city. That kind is unquestionably the best.

ATURDAY HALF HOLIDAY.

Will Be Inaugurated in City Hall Offices.

Beginning next Saturday, May 2, the Board of Public Works and the Board of Health will be closed every Saturday during the summer. Mayor H. H. Bookwalter has decided whether or not the office in the afternoon on Saturday. The office of the Board of Health will remain open, as the nature of the work is such that the attention of the officials is almost constantly required. The Saturday half holiday is usual, but it has more than a usual significance. The city administration has decided to close the city banks and trust companies on Saturday. The city has granted employees half a day in the summer months. He believes it would be a good business men generally could give the benefit of the day to the city. The day is Saturday afternoon the hottest weather.

SHELL WORKERS ARRESTED.

The Police Also Gather in a Boy that Threw Rocks at Them.

William Vance, well known to the police as a shell worker, Harry Raines, one of Vance's lieutenants, and John Lee, a supposed victim of the wily Vance-Raines combination, were arrested last night by Patrolmen Cronin and Kahn on charges of assault and battery.

Vance has given the police considerable trouble with a shell game that he has been operating in North Indianapolis. He and Raines were arrested two weeks ago for the same offense. Last night they had a merry little game going and a number of North Indianapolis boys were crowding them.
Vance made a suspicious play and the rest of the gang attacked him and Raines. A free-for-all fight resulted and Vance and Raines were pelted with stones. In making a round-up the police could get only one of the assailants of Vance and Raines. He was John Lee. The rest of the crowd escaped. Lee said that Vance and Raines had been committing wholesale robberies with their "shells."

"I don't have to use the shells in Indianapolis to make money," said Vance, when he was locked up last night. "I want to make money with the shells I go out of Indianapolis and make it and then come back here and spend the money."

Vance is known as the king of shell workers. He has been working the game in and around Indianapolis for twenty years and has been arrested innumerable times for the offense.

HOFFMANN, GERARDY, KREISLER AND AMPHION CLUB AT ENGLISH'S.

Each in an Individual Number, and the Visiting Instrumentalists in a Rubenstein Trio.

Though the concert given at English's Opera House last night by Josef Hoffmann, pianist; Fritz Kreisler, violinist; Jean Gerardy, cellist, and the Amphion Club was all good, Mr. Hoffmann's part was distinctly best. Besides playing with Mr. Gerardy and Mr. Kreisler in the Rubenstein Trio, he had a group of three compositions, including "Spanish Caprice," Rubenstein's "F minor bar-carolle and Liszt's sixth "Hungarian Rha-pody," at the end of the programme. He played the "Spanish Caprice" on his previous visit this season.

Mr. Hoffmann improves on acquaintance.
He has, it seemed last night, the qualities that make a musician regularly admirable—balance, incisiveness, frankness and breadth. The floodness that at first appears as curtness turns out honest modesty and cultured sensibility. The Rubenstein bar-carolle that Mr. Hoffmann played has a meditative depth that suggests Chopin at his best, and the pianist gave it gracefully and delicately. The Moszkowski number, too, was beautifully played, and the Hungarian rhapsody's melodies were developed with nicety and freshness. The audience, which was the best material for his work, responded to his playing and Mr. Hoffmann played Wagner's "magical fire" music with enough of mystic suggestion to relieve somewhat the dryness of the "rhapsody."

The trio was a rare opportunity. Chamber music is seldom available, especially outside of New York. It is one of the finest refinements of musical form and it demands not only serious and fine tact from the players, but a judicious audience also. Last night's audience was properly receptive, but Mr. Kreisler and Mr. Ger-ardy seemed to lack the polish they should have. Mr. Kreisler was in distract-ingly merry humor. The audience, of course, did not know on whom the joke was. Perhaps it was on Rubenstein. The trio started loosely and did not find unity until the close of the first movement. "Mr.
Kreisler" shattered some of his tone, and played the lifting phrases of the second movement; indeed, they seemed more to his manner than the rest of the trio, though without the desired serenity, was very interesting, and when the audience asked for an encore the players gave the "Ave Maria" of Gounod. Here Mr. Kreisler settled down and played earnestly and with a full, clear tone, which was complemented by Mr.
Gerardy. Mr. Hoffmann's part was richly given.

Mr. Kreisler had not played in this city before. His individual position of the concert was a concerto in D minor by Vieuxtemps. The scherzo, with muted strings, he played delightfully. He has an easy, graceful, and somewhat dashing manner that pleases many, and his skill and strength of tone make one wish to hear him in important compositions when he feels some responsibility.

Mr. Gerardy, in two movements, andante allegretto, written by Boccherini, in an interview this afternoon, positively denied the report that the White Star line had been sold, and also denied that the American shipping syndicate held any shares whatever in the company.
